Description How many times have you attempted to untangle cylinder springs, only to end up with a strand of wire or several damaged and unusable springs? Tangle resistant cylinder springs by Major Manufacturing are not tangle proof, but they resist tangling common with standard springs. Use our springs wherever you use standard size springs. Because they are more closely wound and contain more coils overall than other springs, they resist tangling and provide greater compression on the pin stacks.? They will cut your pinning time and your loss or destruction count will be practically eliminated.? 100 per pack.
